Osmond Republican: Miss McHenry, of Plainview, representing the New York Life Insurance Co., was an Osmond visitor and Republican caller on Saturday last. ... Mrs. B. S. Leedom left on Saturday for Wymot, Neb., in response to a telegram announcing the arrival of a new grand son, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. S. Fry. Mrs. Leedom said that she were the greatest of all foolish fellows, making so much over these grand babies but by the way she stepped around, after telegram, guess the microbe has not been entirely idle at our house. We are glad to say that Mrs. Fry was getting along nicely at last report.

Cobb and family left for California last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Cobb intends to look over the state carefully for a year or so before investing and settling down. The Enterprise wishes these old residents of Emerson well in their new home but it is our firm belief that after they have rambled over the world a while they will come back to good old Nebraska.

Sioux City Journal, 27th: Another man from Goodwin, Neb., who had well finished cattle on the market was John Fellers. His shipment consisted of three loads of beefs that averaged 1,485 pounds and sold for $6.15, within a dime of the top of the day. ... A corps of engineers and a force of right of way men were working yesterday between Tekamah and Decatur along the survey of the Omaha, Sioux City and Northern Railway company, which, it is said, has a project for constructing an interurban electric railway between Omaha and Sioux City. ... Tom Crosby, of Goodwin, Neb., marketed a load of well finished beefs averaging 1,398 pounds that sold for $6.25, the top price for the day. Mr. Crosby has a national reputation as a feeder and last year had steers on the local market that sold for $8.30 and fat cows that brought $7.00, which goes to show that Mr. Crosby can "come back."

Lyons Mirror: Horatio Kraus, of South Sioux City, one of the pioneers of 1856, and a cousin of M. M. Warner, is here selling his patent ironing board which is one of the best on the market. ... M. M. Warner and wife went up to Homer, Saturday, to visit the family of Frederick Wilkins. Years ago, when we lived on a farm east of Homer, Mr. Wilkins bought his firewood, fence posts, and other timber of us. But now the timber has grown so fast on his own place on Fiddler Creek, that he has hundreds of cords of wood and thousands of posts growing there. ... We received a letter from our brother, L. M. Warner, at Antlers, Ok.lahoma, in which he says: "I am spending most of my time propagating socialism—it's all I care for. A man who understands socialism—even a little bit and is not one himself, is either a greater or a fool, or both. That has the Warner ring to it. We don't want to boast, but that ring has been ringing since our ancestors first landed in America more than two hundred years ago."

Sioux City Journal, 26: The wholesale liquor warehouse of Frank Kruger at South Sioux City, near the approach to the combination bridge, is almost completed. ... The Missouri river, which is high, is flowing into Jackson Lake, near Jackson, Neb. The lake in consequence has overflowed the banks and the water is spread throughout the willow groves which fringe the banks. In the shallow water in the willows are hundreds of carp and buffalo fish. Yesterday men and boys with spears captured many of them. The overflow has done no harm, and will be of benefit to the lake, which was exceedingly low. ... The Railway Age Gazette is authority for the statement that a contract has been given to the Kansas Construction and Irrigation company, Garden City, Kan., to build an interurban electric railway from Omaha, Neb., northwest via Blair, Tekamah and Decatur to Sioux City, a distance of ninety miles. ... B. M. McCune, whose residence is not named, is given as the president of the company, which is called Omaha, Sioux City and Northern. ... B. L. Allen, chief engineer. ... E. A. Tannis, of Garden City, Kas., is interested in the project. The route indicated seems to follow the old survey of the Omaha and Northern, a project of the late E. P. Reynolds, Jr., of Wyomere, Neb., and Capt. T. P. Gere, now of St. Paul, formerly of Sioux City, which was abandoned after the Great Northern railway built its line to Ashland. The Reynolds survey found the shortest line over run between Sioux City and Omaha, and the grade was ideal. A large amount of money was expended on this project, which, at one time, was all but financed.

Sioux City Journal, 25th: Sheriff E. G. Dilley left last evening for Anamosa, where he will take Mike Ferron, who recently entered a plea of guilty in the district court to the charge of larceny. Ferron was given a three-year sentence. ... The plan to siphon water into Crystal Lake may meet with court opposition. The unusually low stage of water in the lake has encouraged farmers to plant the lowlands this year. With a crop in prospect from land that would be covered if the siphon plan were adopted, these farmers look not kindly on the move. When it was announced that engineers would go over the ground and make estimates of the cost of running a pipe line from the Missouri into the lake the owners of the crops growing on the lowlands began to fret the lake immediately began to talk of court procedure. This attitude, it is said, will cause postponement of the "lake siphon" plan until next year. The engineers who looked over the ground have announced that a pipe line would cost $7,000. ... Miss Jennie Baird Bridenbaugh, 1806 Fourth avenue, Morningdale, has received an appointment to a position in a woman's college in Nagasaki, Japan. This is an institution of 400 or 500 students. Miss Bridenbaugh graduated from Morningdale college in 1909 and has been an instructor in mathematics in the academy of that institution for two years. She has taught in the high schools at Celeridge, Neb., and Battle Creek, Io. She received her appointment at the hands of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church and will sail in November to the Orient. Miss Bridenbaugh was a classmate and intimate friend of Miss Ida Lewis, who is at Tien Tsin, China. Her going will add another to the already large force of Morningdale girls who are going to work on a compact to go out to this work—the two above mentioned and one still in course of preparation.

Sioux City Journal, 28th: The Gateway Improvement company, of South Sioux City, Neb., has filed suit in the district court against Ryle Howard, of Orchard, Neb., J. A. Foye and the Sioux City, Crystal Lake and Homer Railway company in the effort to collect a $1,419 note. The note was executed on July 20, 1910, and fell due on May 1, 1911, states the petition. It is claimed that the interest and principal still remain unpaid. E. A. Burgess appears as counsel for the Gateway Improvement company. Mr. Burgess said the action on the note is not a step toward ousting Foye from the Crystal Lake park. Howard, about a year ago, secured a controlling interest in the Sioux City, Crystal Lake and Homer road, which is generally known as the Foye line. Regarding the suit filed by the Gateway Improvement company Mr. Foye said last night: "The note against the Crystal Lake and Homer line is acknowledged, but there are certain aspects of the case which I think the public should know. In the first place the bridge company had a working agreement with the street car company regarding tolls. This agreement was carried out for two years, and had it been lived up to the third and fourth years, as it should have been, the bridge company would have owed the street car company $149 on the tolls. By the librogation of this agreement it was made to appear that the railway company owed the bridge company $780, a difference of $631 between the railway company. This $630 should be credited on the note, leaving a real balance of $489 due the bridge company. Crystal Lake park proper, which is a strip of ground 40 rods from east to west and 80 rods from north to south, lying immediately south of the team road running down to the lake, and including frontage on both sides of the lake, belongs to Harry Foye, Joe A. Foye, Jr., and Joe A. Foye, Jr., and the Gateway Improvement company, which is a subsidiary company of the bridge company, has no equity in this property. The Gateway Improvement company's property consists of twenty-one acres lying between the Foye property and the Burlington track in what is known as lot 1. We expect to look after the property of the Gateway company at the lake until the close of this year, at least, the same as if no suit had been instituted."
